Monday, August 14 1704

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 5.

Warsaw, July 18. having acknowledg'd and congratulated the new King Stanislaus I. the great Marshal of the Army of the Crown, and most of the other Senators who forbore being present at his Election, have, by his Eminency's Persuasion, follow'd the Example; which confirms the Opinion of the more discerning Men, that their Management, and particularly the Cardinal Primate's, was all Grimace to amuse the Publick; and that they secretly agreed to the Election of the new King, with those who openly proclaim'd him; for 'tis very unlikely that the King of Sweden's Menaces to ravage the Lands of the Cardinal and the great Marshal unless they would acknowledge King Stanislaus, could avail to determine them so quickly, had they not been already engag'd on his side. A few days ago his Swedish Majesty complimented the new King on his Advancement to the Throne, and having since had a private Conference with him, assur'd him he would support him, and promis'd to furnish him with six Millions in Money and a considerable Body of Regular Troops, to put him into a Condition to maintain himself against all the Efforts of King Augustus. His said Swedish Majesty has likewise given him 600 Foot and 600 Horse for a Life Guard; which shews they dare not yet trust the Polish Troops. The new Queen has already begun to give Audience to the Ladies, and a great many of them have waited on her to congratulate her on her Advancement to that Dignity.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 7.

Warsaw, July 23. It is now become a general Observation, that the Management of the Cardinal Primate in the Affair of the new Election of the Palatin of Polnania for King, was all Artifice to throw the blame of the Irregular Proceedings in that Election on others; and to save himself the Trouble of answering any Question on that subject to the Court of Rome; His Pretence that the King of Sweden sent Troops upon his Lands, and that they began to live there at Discretion, is deem'd impertinent; because 'tis known from good Hands that those Troops (which are now retir'd off his Lands,) had his own Consent, which may be call'd a tacit Order, to go upon them. The new King of Poland, the Cardinal Primate, the Marshal of the Confederacy, and several others of the same Party, had a long Conference t'other day with the King of Sweden at his Quarters at Blonia. His Swedish Majesty propos'd that the new King should be crown'd within a Month: But the Cardinal represent'd that it was more necessary to march first and engage King Augustus, and endeavour to rout him intirely: 'Tis said his Swedish Majesty approv'd the Cardinal's Counsel. Mean time certain Advice is come, that King Augustus has sent to the Muscovite and Saxon Succours he expects, to make what Expedition they can to joyn him: And 's reported, that the former are arriv'd near Brodi, which is 14 Leagues on t'other side Lemberg; That a considerable Body of Muscovite Cossacks are come to Cantaninow on the Frontier of Volhinia; and that Mazepa their chief Leader has sent several Messengers to his Majesty, to acquaint him that he waited his Orders, either to joyn him or make a Diversion.

From the King of Poland's Camp at Kamin, July 21. The 17th of this Month we decamp'd from Sandomir and came to this Place, which is not far from Jaroslaw. On Advice of the pretended Election at Warsaw of Monsieur Lescinski Palatin of Posnania, (who is but 26 Years old) King Augustus dispatch'd several Couriers to the 20000 Cossacks that waited his Orders, to desire them to make haste to joyn him. His Majesty has likewise written Letters to the Czar of Muscovy, to desire him to make haste to succour him with all his Forces, conformably to their Alliance.

Warsaw, July 28. The King of Sweden has nam'd Monsieur Wachlager and Palmentin to be his Commissioners to treat of Peace with the Republick; and the new King on his part, has nam'd the Palatin of Stradia and the Castellan of Inowaclaw. Mean time his Majesty has given Audience to the Swedish Commissioners. The Under-Chamberlain and Quarter-Master of the Army of the Crown came over to him t'other day with 6000 Poles whom they commanded, and yesterday he treated them very splendidly at Dinner. The King of Sweden has paid 20000 Crowns to these 6000 Men, in part of their Arrears. His Swedish Majesty has likewise caus'd 1000 Crowns a Week to be paid to the new King, in part of 30000 Crowns which he has promis'd him for his Equipage. His Army is divided into two Bodies, one of which is marching towards Great Poland, and the other towards Cracow, to intercept the Troops that are coming to his Polish Majesty. His Swedish Majesty is at Newstad. Mean time we learn that King Augustus having caus'd the Fortifications of Sandomir to be demolish'd, is march'd with his Army to Tanagrod in Russia, to joyn the Muscovites and Cossacks that are coming to succour him. Thus the Fate of Poland depends on the Success of the Arms of one or other Party; mean time the Kingdom is made the Theatre of a Bloody War.

From the Harlem Courant, dated August 16.

From the King of Poland's Camp at Landzat, July 28. Tomorrow or next day we shall break up and march a League beyond Jaroslaw, whither the Muscovite Succours are directed to repair. 'Tis said for certain that Dorpat has surrendered to the Muscovites. The great Council assembled by Summons from King Augustus, has declar'd, that those who have chosen the Palatin of Polnania for King, are Rebels and Traitors to their Country, and have offer'd a Manifesto on that subject to be publish'd.

London, August 14.
